Howe's been clean longest. But give 'em all a break, including the kids who can't afford major league lawyers and get thrown in jail for doing essentially what dozens (if not more) professional athletes get away with. Its called equality under the law.

True. Now I see that Strawberry is about to play for St. Paul.

As for Howe. I don't trust him. I feel like he could go bad any minute.

Gooden's got a future, as he proved the other night. New Yorkers have common sense. Howes Steve doing this season?
